AMUSEMENTS.

Otis Skinner, Sarah Cowell Le Moyne and Eleanor Robson at English's.

English's Opera House has probably never in its history held a larger or more cultured audience than that which occupied the theater last night, the occasion being the presentation by three leading American players of Robert Browning's powerful drama in blank verse, "In a Balcony." This city has been the scene of many dramatic triumphs, but none (at least in the memory of the younger theatergoers) has ever transcended or even equalled that won by Mr. Skinner, Mrs. Le Moyne and Miss Robson. If any should feel inclined to question the truth of this strong declaration, let him try to recall a theatrical performance in this city that so completely won the admiration of an audience as to cause people to remain in their seats long after the play had been spoken, applauding enthusiastically, almost wildly, until they were forced to desert from their physical weariness.

This is exactly what happened in English's Opera House last night. The applause broke forth so irresistibly and with the fall of the curtain, and even after it had been raised and lowered four or five times the outgoing audience mingled until first Miss Robson, then Mrs. Le Moyne and finally Mr. Skinner came out and bowed their appreciation. Still the end came not. The people were at last induced to leave the playhouse by Mr. Skinner coming to the footlights and making a graceful speech of acknowledgment on behalf of his distinguished associates and himself. It was a truly admirable scene that was witnessed in a lifetime in the theater, if indeed so often. One must not forget that this was a play in which the characters were not only human but humanly perfect. The play was a dramatic poem that was a triumph for the great poet who penned the words which were made so wonderfully real by the consummate art of the players. The hearts of ardent Browning admirers, who have had to bear the kibes and sneers of the unenlightened, has signed for the summer season with the Eucleda-avenue stock company in Cleveland, O. x x x

Mrs. Leslie Carter will finish her season in "Zaza" to-night in Rochester, N. Y. She will not be seen on the stage again until next November, when she will produce "La Dumbarry," an adaptation from the French made for her use by David F. Belasco.

Gus Bothner, manager of "A Bunch of Keys," has purchased a half interest in Bartley Campbell's "A White Slave" from John Campbell, a son of the deceased author, and an extensive production of the play will be made in the New York Academy of Music next August.

The work of John A. Preston in the role of Armand Duval in "Camille" at the Park is attracting favorable attention. Mr. Preston is one of the cleverest and most versatile actors on the stage at the Park theater. The production of the fascinating Dumas play will end with to-day's two performances.

The Holden Dramatic Company will present "The Fool of St. Arven" for the first time at the Park Theater Monday afternoon of next week. The latter half of the play will be given by the company's repertory, will be revived by request. It was produced during the engagement of the Holden organization at the Park last season.

Miss Isabella Haas will entertain the senior class of the Girls' Classical School to-day with a luncheon.

Mr. Harold Eldridge, of Chicago, will today be giving his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Eldridge, of Morton Place.

Mrs. J. Miller, of Anderson, who has been visiting Mrs. Edward Kingsbury, 33 East

Twentieth street, has returned home.

Mrs. E. R. Hiett, of Toledo, will arrive, next week, to visit Miss Hunt and Mrs.

H. A. Crossland, 144 North Alabama street.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Favre and Mr.

and Mrs. Frederick J. Frank, will give a dance at the Frolypseum, on June 8, in their apartments at the Delano.

Mr. and Mrs. Norbert A. Dickert announced the engagement of their daughter

Katherine Jane and Mr. Herbert Wilding,

Wednesday evening June 1.

The German Literary Club will spend Tuesday with Mrs. Harry Adams, at her summer home, near St. Paul, Ind. The club's annual meeting has been deferred until Tuesday, June 4.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wilding announce

The new steam motor car which the I. & V. Railroad is testing will be ready for the first official test in about two weeks. The car will be a two-seater, and will be ready to run at a speed of sixty miles an hour. The plans of the company for Mar-tinsville, include the building of a double track from here to Martinsville.

Within a few days the ward at the Central Hospital for the insane, which was damaged several weeks ago by fire, will be ready for occupancy again. The ward has accommodations for about seventy patients. Much delay in the work has resulted from inability to secure workmen and materials, and this cause will also delay work on the new building so that it may not be completed for six months.

Samuel Copeland, of 111 South Illinois street, died yesterday morning at his home.

He was a blacksmith by trade, and worked for about twenty years ago. He was eighty-two years of age, and had for fifty years been a Mason. He came here nineteen years ago from Johnson City, Tenn., where he was born. Two sons and three daughters survive him. The funeral will be held at 10 o'clock tomorrow at the Plymouth Church, and will be conducted by the Rev. H. S. Messerly.

The United Veterans' Legion, members of the Grand Army of the Republic, and affiliated organizations, will attend the evening session at Plymouth Church tomorrow at 7:45 o'clock. The United Veterans' Legion will meet at the monument steps at 7:30, and together with the Ladies' Auxiliary, will proceed to the church. The regular choir will be assisted by a male quartet. The pastor, Rev. H. S. Messerly, will speak on "The Optimism of Patriotism."

MICHIGAN-STREET SEWER.

A Delegation Filled by Property

Owners with Works Board.

About twenty property holders interested in the main sewer to be laid in East Michigan street, before the Board of Works yesterday morning. The property owners are about equally divided, and those who own property lying east of the terminus of the sewer, which will begin at Rural street and run west to the junction of Pogue's run and Michigan street, filed with the board a written remonstrance setting out a list of objections. The remonstrance states first that the new sewer law is void because it is in conflict with the Constitution of the United States and because it violates the Constitution of the State of Indiana.

It also states that the sewer would be of no use to the remonstrating property holders, because the sewer is far from the
